

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Avery Green and I am a student taking an environmental science class. Recently, a guest speaker came to our school and we learned about pollution. The speaker inspired me to try to help out this cause, which led me to your local environmental stewardship organization. It has been bothering me that I can't help these poor animals on my own, so I am turning to you looking for help.

Pollution has been the number 1 environmental issue for the longest of time and now it is our chance to make it right. The rise in people getting lung cancer and heart disease is way too high, but it's not going to go down until we put a stop to pollution. The presentation mainly focused on how pollution is affecting our sea animals in wildlife. Sea animals are getting strapped in plastic causing them to suffocate or drown to death. They are also eating the garbage thinking it's food, but really it is starving them. It's just not overall good for animals to be living in trash. This won't get better until we act and try to fix it, not just for us but for all the dying animals and wildlife.

To fix this issue I would like to start taking trash out of the ocean, but you may be thinking how will we be able to? My idea is to start a volunteer program that involves rewards or prizes to draw people in. I think it would be a good idea to rent boats and bring volunteers willing to collect trash, and depending on how many trash bags they collect they can get a prize or be entered into a draw. To get prizes we could start a donation for wild animals, 95% will go to help cleaning the ocean and 5% can go towards prizes to draw in helpers. I really think we can make a difference with you and your team willing to help us out with this issue. If this gets big this will also make your company look really good and it may also draw in more business options.

We can make a difference if we all work together, don't just think of me, think of all the animals and wildlife that will be saved from our project. I would like to thank you for taking the time to read my letter and consider my idea. If you have any further questions you can reach my number at 780 548 9261, and my email is Avergree@lrcssd.ca.

Sincerely,
Avery Green
